ENY LEE PARKER

Eny Lee Parker is a prominent spatial designer based in New York, known for her work in the realms of objects, furniture, and lighting. Her approach centers around the use of clay as her primary medium, channeling the essence of traditional craftsmanship with a focus on slowness, intention, and a deep respect for natural resources. In doing so, she creates contemporary objects that not only elevate our awareness of our presence but also celebrate the beauty of non-living things. Lee's talent and dedication have not gone unnoticed, as her work has been featured in publications such as The New York Times T Magazine, Vogue, Elle Decor, Architecture Digest, Wallpaper, Domino Magazine, Dwell, Financial Times, and more. Her insights into design have also led her to become a judge for the esteemed Dezeen Awards in 2023. In addition to her editorial recognition, Eny Lee has made her mark in the design world through both solo exhibitions and group shows. Her involvement in events like Design Miami during Art Basel, Milan during design week, showcases her commitment to exploring the boundaries of creativity. As a testament to her curatorial talents, she debuted her first show at Objective Gallery inviting global artists to participate. Beyond exhibitions, Lee has collaborated with brands such as Lulu and Georgia and Hudson Valley Lighting to design furniture and lighting collections that marry functionality with her artistic language. With her remarkable portfolio and contributions to the world of design in the short span of six years, Eny Lee Parker continues to inspire and redefine the boundaries of contemporary design, reminding us of the intrinsic beauty in the objects that surround us.*
